

Privacy Statement

This page informs you of our statement regarding the collection, use and disclosure of Personal Information we receive from users of the website.

DOKVAST uses your personal information only for providing and improving the website. By using the website, you agree to the collection and processing of your personal information in accordance with this policy, and feel confident that your privacy is respected.

While using our website, we may ask you to provide us with certain personally identifiable information that can be used to contact or identify you. Personally identifiable information may include, but is not limited to your name.

Like many site operators, we collect information that your browser sends whenever you visit our website. This Log Data may include information such as your computer's Internet Protocol ("IP") address, browser type, browser version, the pages of our website that you visit, the time and date of your visit, the time spent on those pages and other statistics. In addition, we may use third party services such as Google Analytics that collect, monitor and analyse this Log Data.

Above that, DOKVAST may collect personal information such as: first name, last name, e-mail address and country of residence and other information which is voluntarily submitted by the users of the website. The personal information provided by you will be processed for marketing, sales and product development purposes.

DOKVAST may give personal information to third parties, located within and outside the EU. You have rights of access and rectification in relation to your personal information. You may obtain information free of charge regarding the personal data which is processed by DOKVAST and which relates to you as a data subject. If you want to obtain such information, or request that your data is edited or erased, please contact DOKVAST.

Cookies are files with small amount of data, which may include an anonymous unique identifier. Cookies are sent to your browser from a website and stored on your computer's hard drive. Like many websites, we use "cookies" to collect information. You can instruct your browser to refuse all cookies or to indicate when a cookie is being sent. However, if you do not accept cookies, you may not be able to use some portions of our website.

The security of your personal information is important to us, but remember that no method of transmission over the internet, or method of electronic storage, is 100% secure. While we strive to use commercially acceptable means to protect your personal information, we cannot guarantee its absolute security.

This privacy statement is effective as of June 2019 and will remain in effect except with respect to any changes in its provisions in the future, which will be in effect immediately after being posted on this page. We reserve the right to update or change our privacy statement at any time and you should check this privacy statement periodically. Your continued use after we post any modifications to the privacy statement on this page will constitute your acknowledgment of the modifications and your consent to abide and be bound by the modified privacy statement.

If we make any material changes to this privacy statement, we will notify you either through the email address you have provided us, or by placing a prominent notice on our website.